

As a person who travels for business the traffic and weather instantly is important to me. Having to wait 10-15 minutes for traffic reports at times could make the difference between getting stuck and being able to go around. Anyhow what is the NAB afraid of? We know, competition and someone who is providing a better product. Let them compete like everyone else in the free market place without government interference. We are paying for this service and as a consumer we have a right to expect the service we are paying for without interference from the government.
